

Temple Isaiah Religious School
Achievement & Attendance Policies & Standards
For Kindergarten - 7th Grade Students

1. Students must demonstrate knowledge of the term's work and have completed all assignments and projects in order to be promoted each year.
2. Prompt and regular attendance is a necessary part of effective religious education. Only illness should keep a student home. When an absence occurs, it is the child's responsibility to obtain missed assignments from a classmate.
3. 4th-7th grade students are allowed a maximum of 10 absences per class day per year (e.g., students must attend 20 of 30 Monday sessions and 20 of 30 Tuesday sessions).
4. Accurate records will be kept on all students in our Religious School to insure that assignments are being met.
5. Students who are unable to limit their absences to the allowed maximum will be given a curriculum assignment toward the end of the school year. Promotion to the next grade level will be provisional until the assignment has been completed.
6. Excessive absences beyond the maximum allowed might result in denial or postponement of promotion or Bar/Bat Mitzvah service.
7. In case of prolonged absence due to illness, which threatens attendance and achievement standards, please notify the Religious School Director immediately. Each situation will be completely reviewed to determine the most acceptable solution for all parties involved.
8. For both safety and insurance purposes, written consent from a parent must be given to the Religious School Office Administrator if someone else is picking up your child prior to the regular dismissal.

I have read and understand the above policies and standards.
